

Are you looking for a community service project that will really make a difference? Clothes To Kids of Denver needs you for the Undie 500!

What is the Undie 500?

The Undie 500 challenges participants to collect as many new underwear and socks as possible to support Clothes To Kids of Denver (CTKD). Teams from service organizations, Scout troops, schools, sports teams, businesses and religious communities may participate by collecting as a group, or challenge another team to a collection competition. However you participate, be creative and have fun!

Why Underwear?

CTKD provides 5 new pairs of underwear and 5 new pairs of socks to every student who visits our shop. In 2017, Clothes To Kids of Denver distributed almost 95,000 free pairs of new underwear and new socks to 9,594 students in need. CTKD is on track to serve 10,000+ students in 2018 and we need your help to make sure we can meet the demand!

Undie 500 Guidelines

- Underwear or socks collected must be NEW and in packages to count for your team. Used items are not accepted. The suggested collection goal is 500 pairs per team.
- Underwear and socks should be kids size 6 (small) and larger. We accept all adult sizes!
- The timing for Undie 500 drives is very flexible so that you can pick a time of year that is right for your group. We even have collection barrels to loan if you don't want to make your own.
- Final numbers for all of the teams will be announced at the end of the year, so please plan to have all donations turned in to Clothes To Kids by Friday December 21, 2018.
